

?Invite users to manage your AtomicHost Server

You can invite users to your server, allowing for them to have access to certain permissions and actions on your server, or have full administration access to your server.

How to invite someone to my server?

To invite someone to your server, you will have to select the `Members` tab when on your chosen server.

Here you can click the `Invite Members` button at the top right

INVITE MEMBER

Invite a team member to come and manage this order. If the user is not registered, they'll be sent an email to register and join the team.

john@example.com

User Role

Member (Selected Permissions)

Permissions

- manage
Can this user view the "manage" page for this order
- invoices
Can this user view the "invoices" page for this order
- renew
Can this user renew this order, create invoices and pay invoices
- cancel
Can this user cancel this order
- cancel-undo
Can this user undo cancellations for this order
- upgrade
Can this user upgrade or downgrade this order
- members

Send Invite

You will now have to enter in the email which the user you want to invite has used to create an AtomicHost account, if they don't have an account already, please ask them to signup.

After entering the email of the user can you select the user roles manually, which gives you control over what that user can access, or you can give them full administrator access, which allows them to access any part of your server.

Revision #1

Created 2025-10-30 13:51:53 UTC by Fin

Updated 2025-10-30 13:56:30 UTC by Fin